

ABSTRACT

A pedal bearing block for receiving a pedal, in which the block has a basic body, a connecting point for fastening the pedal bearing block to a front wall, and a bearing point for receiving a pedal bearing. The basic body of the pedal bearing block has a shell and a reinforcing element assigned to the shell, the shell formed from metal and the reinforcing element formed of plastic in order to provide a compact, yet strong, pedal bearing block in a highly cost-effective manner.